Flynn says NDSL cuts not definite

Although President Reagan said recently that he will recommend a cut or elimination in the National Direct Student Loans Program, Eastern's Associate Financial Aid Director John Flynn said Friday the proposal is still "up in the air."

More than half of Eastern's students are currently under the NDSL program, Flynn said with more students are applying each year.

If the loans are cut, Flynn said all would be affected.

Reagan said in his nationally broadcast address to a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives that he will recommend several cuts in the national budget, including the national student loans.

The loan is a low interest loan to help students pay for education expenses after finishing school at a

The student begins paying back the loan nine months after graduation or quitting school.

Although Reagan did say a cut may be in sight, Flynn said no action has yet been taken, and may not be for quite a while—if at all.

"We don't know if anything will come out of this announcement. There's still a lot more to do on it," Flynn said.

IBHE states priorities for fiscal '82 budget

by Scott Hainzinger

The Illinois Board of Higher Education staff said Monday that faculty pay hikes and increased scholarships should be among the top priority items of its new, pared down budget recommended by money-conscious Gov. James Thompson.

The IBHE recommended a $1.28 billion higher education budget for fiscal '82 in January. Thompson informed the board last week of his recommendations on what the state budget could afford for higher education next year.

Thompson recommended a higher education budget of $1.23 billion for next year. In doing so, Thompson asked the board to cut over $50 million from its original budget.

IBHE Executive Director Richard Wagner said the board is required to provide advice on higher education budgetary matters to the governor by Illinois statute.

Therefore, while the board had previously made its own funding recommendations, it also prepared a budget using the governor's $1.23 billion figure.

Monday, Wagner listed the areas that the board staff said should be priority items within the governor's guidelines.

Included in the staff recommendations were:

—An 8 percent salary increase for faculty and staff of public universities in conjunction with a 2 percent "catch up" award to make Illinois salaries more competitive.

—More than 91,300 scholarship awards in the Illinois State Scholarship Commissions Monetary Award Program, an increase of 6,550 over the current year.

—An increase of one hundred dollars to the maximum ISSC award, bringing the maximum to $1,950.

—Utility cost increases averaging 15 percent for universities and community colleges.

Dave Gilbert, a governor's aide, said the governor indicated that his proposal was all he could offer in what is expected to be a lean year, "with recession and inflation hitting everyone."

"In past years, the governor has been able to assure that higher education would receive at least the amount in his budget proposal," Gilbert said.

The governor can not make that guarantee next year, Gilbert said.

Food service alterations can be drastic — Hencken

by Dawn Morville

If students are given a choice to reduce the number of meals they eat in the residence halls, it could have a "drastic effect" on the housing budget, Lou Hencken, housing director, said recently.

Hencken said 60 percent of each student's room and board fee is applied to food costs and if alternate meal plans were approved, he said he speculated it would be fall 1982 before the plans were implemented in order to make the "necessary corrections" in the budget.

He said the budget for fiscal year 1982 was based on the fact that about 4200 students would be living in the residence halls, paying $1,050 per student for food.

Housing Board co-chairmen Val Averill and Tony Parascondola are developing a survey, to be taken in March during meal hours in the residence halls, to discover if students who do not eat regularly in their residence halls would prefer to pay for fewer meals per week.

The "no breakfast" plan, which would allow students only lunch and dinner, would save the student $20 per semester.

The other alternative, the "no weekend" plan, would allow students to eat Monday breakfast through Friday lunch and save the student $25 per semester.

Hencken said, "We will have to see the results of the survey, and then work from there."

He said the possibility of implementing the alternate meal plans "would have to be studied very thoroughly because once you start alternate meal plans, you can't take them away from those students who wanted it, just because it doesn't seem to work out."

Food Service Director Bev Sterling agreed saying that the alternate meal plan will have to be studied thoroughly to ensure that the budget can afford it.

"If I have done my homework well, it should have no affect on the budget, however, if budget cuts are needed, it would come out of the food costs for breakfast."

She explained that if a large number of students opt for the no breakfast plan and it cuts into the budget more than the Housing Board anticipated, the breakfast menu would have to be changed or limits would be imposed on the amount of food a student can eat.

Sterling said if "every student" opted for the no breakfast plan, the number of student food service workers could be reduced.

She said the $20 the student would save on the no breakfast plan, or the $25 on the no weekend plan, is the amount of the raw food costs.

"The fixed costs, such as labor, are still there so the raw food costs are all we can play with," Sterling said.

Students now pay $4.38 per day for three meals and the raw food costs of these three meals is $1.75 per day, she said.

Sterling said she arrived at the $20 food saving for the no breakfast plan by figuring the raw food cost for breakfast, which is 33 cents, and the number of students who do not eat breakfast.

She said about 36 percent of the students in the residence halls do not eat breakfast and about 76 percent miss meals on the weekends.

"Compared to other schools, we have a very high percentage of students that eat meals (in the residence halls), which we are very proud of," Sterling said.

She said that although there would be additional costs in printing meal tickets, that and other problems "may be worked out because they have been worked out at other schools."

Sterling said if the majority of students favor an alternate meal plan, she "hopes it is approved."

Averill said she did not know how the housing budget would be affected if alternate meal plans were put into effect.

She said it "would certainly entail a lot more paperwork" because three different meal stickers would have to be given out instead of one.

She said she has received information from other schools which have alternate meal plans.

Students in residence halls at Eastern can currently eat 20 meals per week and no Sunday evening meal is provided.

Illinois State University has an 18 meal week and also offers students a 15 meal plan, which saves students $15 per semester.

Northern Illinois University, which has a 21 meal week, offers an alternate 14 meal plan and saves students $20 per semester.

Sharp drop in interest rates predicted by budget director

WASHINGTON—President Reagan pressed his tax and budget cuts with congressmen and governors Monday as his budget director held out—and then backed off—the prediction that interest rates would plummet by half “within a very short period.”

Management and Budget Director David A. Stockman, portraying the package as a sure cure for the economy, told reporters early in the day that it could send the prime rate tumbling from about 19 percent to 8½ percent or lower once Congress completes action.

Later, however, when asked to elaborate upon his seemingly rosy forecast, Stockman admitted that he had gone too far. “I thought about that and I think I misspoke a little,” he told The Associated Press through spokesman Ed Dale. “We do anticipate a substantial decline in interest rate but I can’t say that they will be down to 8½ percent at any early time.”

In the five days since Reagan presented Congress with his program, he and his Cabinet have embarked on an incessant, hard-sell campaign based on a claim that the proposals would bring down inflation and stimulate the economy in a hurry.

Mental health officials ‘illegally dump’ 13 persons

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—State mental health officials have ordered the “illegal dumping” of 13 retarded persons from a state center in Lincoln into a Chicago nursing home where they will “sit and rot,” the stat employees’ union charged Monday.

Steve Culen, Illinois director of the American Federation of State, County and Municiple Employees, said the 13 handicapped people get better, less restrictive and more professional car in the Lincoln institution.

He said the 13 people would be moved into the “locked” Beachview Nursing Center, which he said has no adequate programs for the retarded.

But the allegations were denied by state officials and Beachview owner David F. Budde.

The Lincoln Center also is the target of a federal court suit charging that retarded residents at Lincoln are abused and neglected. Culen said his union plans to help fight that suit.

Budde and Richard Blanton of the Illinois Mental Health Department said Beachview is not a closed facility as Culen claimed.

Three men face attempted murder, violence charges

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill.—A Madison county judge Monday issued warrants charging three Southern Illinois men with attempted murder and armed violence in the abduction and stabbing of two men left for dead in a makeshift grave.

Circuit Judge Philip Rarick set bond at $250,000 each for Richard Brooks, 33, of Carlyle and brothers John M. Morgan, 22, of Pierron and Norman Morgan, 20, of Litchfield. The three remained in the Madison County Jail, with a preliminary hearing set tentatively for March 6.

The stabbing victims, Robert E. Becker, 25, of Bartelso and Billy Whittaker, 22, of Albers were hospitalized in satisfactory and serious condition, respectively.

Sheriff’s Sgt. Charles Zukas said Whittaker was stabbed five times in the chest and Becker beaten and stabbed during a bizarre sequence of events which began late Saturday.

The two men had driven to the residence in Pierron of a Whittaker co-worker at an Albers coal mine, Zukas said. There, a dispute ensued over a stereo system allegedly stolen from one of the three assailants.

Tax revolt by autoworkers may result in prosecution

FLINT, Mich.—About 3,500 autoworkers staging one of the nation’s biggest income-tax revolt’s could face criminal prosecution if they persist in such dodges as claiming up to 99 dependents, the Internal Revenue Service warned Monday.

The revolt began last year when word swept down an assembly line at a General Motor Corp. plant in Flint about a tax-fighting organization called We the People ACT.

The group charges a fee for information on how to stop paying taxes legally. Much of the information concerns filling out W-4 forms which employers use to compute taxes withheld from employees’ paychecks.

Brezhnev suggests summit with Reagan in future

MOSCOW—President Leonid I. Brezhnev, opening the Soviet Communist Party Congress, on Monday proposed a summit meeting with President Reagan to resolve world problems and improve relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

In a major policy speech by a thunderous ovation, Brezhnev called for resumption of U.S.-Soviet strategic arms negotiations and for limits on submarines and deployment of submarine-based missiles.

Poetry for non-voters

We offer the following poem in light of Wednesday's horrendous voter turnout for the Textbook Library and Student Activities fee referendums:

So you say you didn't vote on Wednesday?
Well, both referendums have passed
No thanks to you, we'd say
Your members aren't exclusively classed

Some of you had decided to balk
In such fair weather you played
And it was probably too far for you to walk
With two feet heavy and clayed

What happened to the brave 3,000-plus
Who faced the elements in November?
To cast their votes from dawn to dusk
To hike athletic fees—remember?

Maybe the facts were confusing
About the issues at hand
But the News had much reporting,
Student government offered you a stand

So, remember when fees are going up
That you had your chance
But you passed the buck

Next time you should probably add your voice
Then you can't complain about the choice

Follow these rules when writing letters

It seems our readers are still confused over our letter policy. This column will try to end that confusion.

First of all, anyone can write a letter and have it printed in the Daily Eastern News. 'Your Turn' is reserved for our readers to say what they want, within certain limitations. Those limitations require that the letter not exceed 250 words, not contain any libelous statements and is accompanied by the name and phone number of its author or authors.

The main problem we have had with letters to the editor is the length. Some letters have been excessively long. This causes us to either contact the author and make them cut it or revise it to run as a 'Viewpoint' column.

Readers may complain that the News has no right to limit the length of letters. The reason we have set this policy is to assure that a variety of opinions appear on 'Page Four.'

We run a 'Your Turn' section when we have at least two letters. We usually have enough letters to meet that requirement. A long letter run by itself takes an advantage over others, because that letter will be viewed by the reader as a column and will receive more notice than a shorter one.

Sometimes, with the permission of the author, we will print long letters as opinion columns. But, we take this approach only if we believe the writer is qualified to comment on a particular subject. A chemistry major might have the knowledge to comment on acid rain but not necessarily foreign policy. This policy produces opinion columns with more credibility.

We do not want to shut off student input just because the number of letters received does not conform to our copy fit standards. The News will run special, longer

News notes:

Herb Meeker

sections of 'Your Turn' if the volume of letters written on a single issue warrants it. Longer sections of 'Your Turn' were run in November during student and local elections.

However, if many letters basically say the same thing, we will print those that conform to the desired length and best express the idea.

Though the News supports freedom of expression, we cannot condone libel. Libelous personal attacks on an individual or those we consider in poor taste will not be printed. Call it censorship if you want, but 'Your Turn' is a place for criticism, not personal vendettas.

We require that any letter must include the name and telephone number of its author or authors. Without this information, we cannot confirm who actually wrote a letter and thereby clear up any questions about the letter. Names will be withheld on 'Page Four' if requested but names and phone numbers on the original copy are necessary.

Finally, any letters signed with a false name (including obscure nicknames) will not be printed even if a withhold name request is made. An anonymous letter lacks credibility and shows that the authors (whoever they are) will not stand behind their statements.

We feel that letters are a valuable asset to the News and we encourage their submission. But these rules need to be followed if readers expect their letters to be printed.

Your turn

Stand up, please!

Editor:

We have been to every home basketball game of the 1980-81 season. Before every game, everyone rises to sing our National Anthem except one individual. We don't know this individual's name, but we are sure she knows who she is.

It really bothers us that this person can snub her country by not showing respect when she refuses to sing the National Anthem. There are people all over the world that would give anything to live in the USA and to pay tribute to this great nation.

Funny how she can stand and sing the school fight song, but not a song that pays tribute to what our country stands for.

We are sure this letter is not going to change her ways. We are proud to be living in America and couldn't let this go by without saying something.

Later, Shields

To Dave Shields:

You speak collectively that Chicago news doesn't interest Eastern students because they are native downstaters.

Do you realize that a large portion if not the majority of Eastern students are from the Chicagoland area, like myself. News out of Chicago is of high interest to me. It is probably just as meaningful as the daily farm report is to you.

Careful Dave, your strange prejudice is showing.

What would you know of Steve Dahl's popularity anyway, being so busy scraping cow dung off your boots downstate.

McAfee is too small

Editor:

I am writing in regards to all of the students who graduate in December after the fall semester.

I was wondering why these students have to graduate from McAfee Gymnasium. I know there are fewer students who graduate after the fall semester as compared to the spring semester but McAfee Gym is still much too small of a place to hold a graduation ceremony.

Why don't we use Lantz Gym or better yet, Dvorak Hall. Dvorak Hall would be an ideal place. The atmosphere and seating conditions are much better than those of McAfee Gym.

Is there any way December graduation could be held someplace else?

Letter Policy

All letters must contain the name, phone number and home address of their authors. Those submitted without this information will not be published. Names will be withheld upon request, but no letters will be accepted unless signed by its author.

Letters should be typewritten and no longer than 250 words. Letters may be handwritten but will not be published if illegible.

Eastern Sculpture and 3-D design instructor Cary Knoop, is exhibiting his sculptures in the Paul Sargeant Art Gallery until March 27. Knoop uses a ease-making technique along with wood, steel, copper and bronze in his sculptures. (News photo by Tom Roberts)

Sculptor to display exhibit

by Carol Hansen

Sculptor Cary Knoop of the art department will be displaying a retrospect of 20 years of his work at an exhibition in the Paul Sargeant Art Gallery in the University Union.

The exhibit will open with a reception for Knoop from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, he said. The exhibition is scheduled to be displayed until March 27.

Knoop said he began working with metal 20 years ago and has since developed his own lace-making technique using insulated wire. His lace sculpture will be included in the display.

The sculptor also works with steel, copper, bronze and wood, constructing both free standing and wall pieces.

In the early years of Knoop's sculpting, he said he concentrated on figures and heads and eventually began creating completely abstract forms.

In the past few years the sculptor has been working on three separate series: the "Winged Victory" series, originating from a Greek allegory; the "Alosenge" series, containing mostly small pieces; and the "Medallion" series which focuses on round forms, he said.

His two most recent pieces belong to the Medallion and Alosenge series, and samples of each of the series will be on display.

Knoop graduated from Millikin University and earned his master's degree at the University of Illinois for his work in sculpture and art history.

Currently a teacher of sculpture and 3-D design, Knoop has taught at Eastern since 1953. He has also participated in "quite a few" exhibitions in the past, he said.

Knoop said that he "honestly didn't know" what created his interest in sculpture. "I can't ever remember not doing sculpture," he said.

He said he thinks he began to do serious work about 25 years ago when he taught public elementary school and needed to do research for his art classes.

Knoop said felt his best works are those he has created from sheet metal. He describes them as "skin over space," with a perception of volume rather than of mass.

Much more than a hobby, sculpture is an important part of Cary Knoop's life. The artist stated it simply — "I have to do it."

COTE to review music ed criteria

by Jane Meyer

The Council on Teacher Education will examine criteria and procedures for admission to the teacher education program for the music department at its meeting Tuesday.

The COTE has been reviewing teacher education programs for every university department in an effort to update and modify the programs for review to comply with the standards of the Illinois Teacher Certification Board and the National Council on Accrediting Teacher Education.

These guidelines require students to have 100 hours of pre-student teaching experience as well as one semester of student teaching experience.

In clinical experience, students observe and help with instruction in a classroom setting as a preparation for teaching.

The NCATE will evaluate Eastern's teacher education program during 1982. The NCATE will not accredit any program that does not meet the requirements.

The certification board and the NCATE evaluate institutions every 10 years.

The COTE meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the Tuscola-Arcola Room of the University Union addition.

Officials to address issue posed by $20 TBL fee hike

by Lola Burnham

Two Eastern officials will address the Faculty Senate Tuesday about changes that will occur within the Textbook Library if the administration approves the increase in TBL fees.

Samuel Taber, dean of student services, and Richard Sandefer, director of the Textbook Library, will address the Faculty Senate about the possible changes.

Students approved a referendum last week calling for an increase in the TBL fee of $20 per semester, raising the fee to $42.

However, before the increase will be effective, Eastern President Marvin must approve the hike.

Senate chairman Leonard Wood said the Senate continues to be interested in the TBL and takes the position the Council on Academic Affairs has advocated.

The CAA believes academic interests should take priority over any other influence on the library.

Wood said the Senate is interested in "anything that might lead to moratoriums that might place restrictions on classroom materials."

Wood said the Senate will also approve the Nominations Committee report about petitions filed for openings on campus councils.

The deadline for filing petitions was Friday.

The elections will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 18 and 19 in the Union lobby.

In addition, there will probably be further discussion of summer school "to engage the Faculty Senate's reaction to the proposal for two five-week sessions," Wood said.

Wood said the Student Senate is "already working on it (the proposal) to get some information from other schools."

Wood said the proposal will probably be passed on to the Senate's summer school committee because "it will require the kind of attention a subcommittee can give it."

Nostalgia, novelty unite in Kite's Klothes Klose

by Veronica Adermann

A store specializing in merchandise of today and yesteryear recently opened its door for business in Charleston.

Kite's Klothes Klose, located on Sixth Street above Seeley Carpet and Bath Shoppe on the square, "officially" opened Feb. 4, owner Linda Kite said.

Kite said the shop carries clothing and accessories ranging from the "very current" to items from the 1920s through the '50s.

The merchandise is divided between two rooms representing the past and present time periods.

One wall of the "past" room is decorated with movie stills from the '30s and '40s, featuring Mickey Rooney, W.C. Fields, Clark Gable and Judy Garland, among others.

Kite said the room has a "nostalgic, almost sad feel to it."

"Older people can walk back in time in this room, and the younger ones can relate to their grandma's time," Kite said.

Kite said most customers are more interested in browsing in the room containing the older merchandise.

The room is filled with items such as fur coats, satin dresses, corduroy jackets, beaded sweaters and some men's clothing.

Kite also sells accessories such as shoes, purses, jewelry, hats and crocheted gloves.

Kite said interest in the older merchandise may also be related to a current resurgence of interest in the style of clothing popular in the years between 1920 and late '50s.

Kite said the older merchandise originates from sources including Goodwill, The Salvation Army, rummage sales and the personal collections of individuals.

Kite said part of her personal collection of older merchandise is for sale, although there are some items she "will never part with."

Kite said to obtain both current and older merchandise she is willing to trade and buy, either outright or on a commission basis of 40 percent.

She added merchandise must be in good condition, although "slight exceptions" are made with older items.

Kite said she began her own collection about 10 years ago, but her interest in items from the past began much earlier.

She said as a child she was more interested in talking with older persons than those her own age.

"I was always fascinated by the things my grandma had," Kite added.

Kite said she also took an interest in searching for old articles of clothing for others.

The store is a family business. Kite operates it with the help of her 17-year-old daughter, Marla.

Business hours are 12:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 10:30 until closing Saturday.

Slaughter trial postponed

by Sarah Coyle

The trial date for former Eastern student Rod Slaughter, charged with aggravated battery after he was accused of striking a policewoman in E.L. Krackers last summer, has been moved to May 19.

Special Prosecutor John Elder said the trial was moved from Feb. 24 to May 19 because Trial Judge Spitz had a full calendar.

Elder said May 19 is the earliest trial date he could seek for Slaughter because of the calendar.

Slaughter pleaded not guilty to the charge of striking Police Officer Donna Katz on Aug. 8, 1980 when she was trying to break up a fight in Krackers, Elder said.

This is the second postponement of Slaughter's trial date.

The first trial was originally set for Nov. 18, 1980, but was pushed back to Feb. 24 because of Eastern's participation in the NCAA Division II football championship.

Slaughter was a fullback for the team and many of the witnesses were also football players.

Man sentenced in robbery case

A Mattoon man was sentenced to serve four years in the Department of Corrections when he pleaded guilty to charges of attempted robbery of Reflections Feb. 15.

Coles County States Attorney Nancy Owens said Timothy Carter, 21, pleaded guilty to the charges, while Danny Cobb, also of Mattoon, pleaded not guilty.

A jury trial was set for April 14 for Cobb after he pleaded not guilty, she said.

The two men were suspected of entering the restaurant by breaking through the back door, Owens said.

Professor spends spare time in the dark with hobby

by Lee Ann Franklin

He spends a great deal of time in the dark—alone. He works swiftly and is careful not to leave fingerprints. His timing must be exact because if there is one mistake, everything could be ruined.

Although this man could be a shady character in an Alfred Hitchcock movie, he is actually Ron Jones, a photography instructor at Eastern.

As an associate professor in technology education, Jones has been teaching at Eastern since 1979. Prior to receiving his doctorate of education, he has taught here from 1975 to 1977.

But his interest in photography goes back years.

"When I started shooting (pictures), I was right out of high school. I bought an old used camera and took vacation slides, family pictures, just anything," Jones said. "It was a hobby."

His hobby grew. While working on his doctorate at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, a Saturday-only paper sponsored a front-page photo contest.

"I thought, 'why not?' It would be nice to make a few bucks to pay for the film," Jones said.

He submitted a picture of a famous old clock tower at Amherst College. He explained that the picture had an unusual twist. The night before the picture was taken, some students had climbed the tower and added a Mickey Mouse figure to the clock face as a homecoming stunt.

"They put it on the front page," Jones said.

After the photo contest, Jones became a stringer for the Daily Hampshire Gazette in Amherst. "I kept my eyes open for human interest shots and fired them over to the paper. They ran quite a few of them," he said.

Soon after, Jones got into the postcard business. In the summer of 1978, he was working on his dissertation research in Massachusetts. A group of veterans were thinking of buying Christmas cards and wanted

Jones to judge the quality of the photographs on them.

Jones spoke with the woman giving the sales pitch. She asked if Jones would be interested in doing some shooting and referred him to her art editor.

"He happened to be looking for someone who could spend a month on the road," Jones said. "I could. So I loaded up and spent a week in New Hampshire and three weeks in Nova Scotia taking pictures for postcards."

And he did take pictures—"about 3,000 shots," Jones said.

Jones also uses a special camera—a 4x5 view camera, complete with a hood that drapes over the head and a giant tripod.

"It's a massive outfit," Jones said.

"I carry it in parks and get odd looks from people wondering what I'm doing. I just smile and say, 'doesn't everybody take a camera on vacation?'"

Since the first summer, Jones has travelled to Yellowstone National Park and New Orleans to take additional postcard shots. He said he hopes to travel more, but "with inflation, the postcard business is really going down," he said.

One of the things Jones said he enjoys about photography is teaching it to others. He teaches an introductory class for beginning photography students at Eastern and an independent study for the more advanced students.

In his introductory classes, Jones said he uses a textbook he wrote himself, "Focus on Photography," which came out in January.

In his book, Jones emphasizes technical quality. "I found that existing books did not show step by step sequences of how to do things. New students deserve all the information they can get," he said.

Jones has illustrations and "how to" photo essays in his book.

When Jones is not writing, teaching, or photographing for a specific market, he shoots for his own enjoyment.

Jones also processes his own film.

"I love making prints. I think it's really fun when you see that image coming up in the (developing) tray.

"When you make that print and it comes out looking like you want it to, I think you have accomplished something," Jones said. "It's a measure of success."

City Council to listen to recreational site ideas

A public hearing to discuss the recreational area at the side channel reservoir will be held at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the City Council chambers, 520 Jackson.

City Planner Larry Stoever said an idea for the recreational site has been developed and will be presented at the meeting.

He added the council will discuss the idea along with any other possibilities brought up at the hearing.

"The hearing is to get any input or ideas we didn't come up with,"

Stoever said.

Following the hearing, the council will hold its regularly scheduled meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

Items on the agenda include authorizing bids to extend water and sewer utilities to the proposed site of the American Hardware plant, City Clerk Patsy Loew said.

Bids will also be opened for a new pump at the sewage treatment plant and for a senior citizen's vehicle.

German representative to speak

A government representative from Germany will speak at an International Tea Tuesday at the Wesley Foundation across from Lawson Hall.

Foreign Student Adviser Brigitte Chen said Wolf Siemens, Deputy Chief of Mission from the Embassy of the German Democratic Republic in East Germany will speak at 3 p.m. Siemens will be accompanied by his wife.

The couple will answer questions about the political situation in their home country and Eastern Europe in general, she said.

The tea is from 2 to 4 p.m. and refreshments will be provided by Rotary International, she said. The tea is open to the public.

Energy lecture to be held

William J. Montgomery, coordinator of government affairs for Marathon Oil, Co., will be talking about energy in the 1980s and its future 7 p.m. Tuesday in the University Union Old Ballroom.

Montgomery, who belongs to the American Petroleum Institute and the American Economic Association, will emphasize energy and its prospects through 1990, Hamid Gholamnezhad, director of Eastern's energy program, said Monday.

Before coming to Marathon Oil in 1969 as a petroleum economist, Montgomery was an economist for the federal government, Gholamnezhad said.

The lecture is open to the public.

Plastic use lecture to be given

The chemistry department will sponsor a lecture at 4 p.m. Tuesday in room 415 of the Science Building on the different uses of plastic.

Phillip H. Geil, from the College of Engineering, department of metallurgy and mining engineering at the University of Illinois, will present the lecture, David Buchanan of the chemistry department said.

The lecture is entitled "Morphology of Polymers, Single Crystals, Spherulites & Fibers." He said, "It will give chemists and other interested students ideas on what types of plastics are used for what."

Admission to the lecture is free.

34 seconds remaining.

Robinson appropriately finished Eastern's late first half surge with a crowd pleasing slam dunk that gave the Panthers a 27-20 lead going into the locker room.

"We told them about their play in the first half and we got on them," Samuels said. "We just weren't playing the way we were capable of playing."

But Eastern came out in the second half and showed Panther fans how they are capable of playing.

Led by Eddie Jones' 15 second half points and by Robinson's additional two slam dunks, the Panthers breezed over the Bears.

"We really got a lot of things accomplished in the second half, more than I expected," Samuels said.

Indeed, because the Panthers had three players in double figures.

Icemen split contests in matches in Champaign

by Scott Fishel

Eastern's Hockey Club won one game and lost another to two of its frequent opponents in weekend action at Champaign and Decatur.

The hockey club defeated the Champaign Juniors Saturday 4-3. The weekend's contest was the third meeting of the two teams this season, and the third time Eastern has beaten the Juniors.

The team was then defeated 5-3, Sunday by the Decatur Raiders.

Eastern coach Doug Andreasen said his team played a "sluggish" first period at Champaign, which left them trailing 2-0 near the end of the first period.

But Andreasen scored with 1:23 left in the period, on assists by Brian Williams and Mike Schrader.

The Juniors blanked Eastern in the second period, while they went on to score another goal.

But Eastern bounced back in the third period with Steve Loferuno scoring two unassisted goals and Mike Schrader putting in one with an assist by Gary Garfola.

At Decatur the story was different, as Eastern suffered a 5-3 loss to the Raiders. The defeat follows three season meetings and two Eastern wins.

Gary Dunlop, Mike Schrader and John Ragland were responsible for Eastern's scoring, but it was not enough to catch the Decatur squad.

"We just ran out of steam," Andreasen said. "And the officiating was bad."

The game was not originally scheduled for Sunday, but Decatur had a cancellation, and their coach contacted Andreasen Saturday to see if the game could be arranged.

Several members of the team were unable to play, which Andreasen said might have also been a contributing factor in their loss.

The hockey club will not be active next weekend, but they will be preparing themselves for the Illinois Invitational Tournament, to be held at Champaign March 6-8.

Teams from Kankakee, Champaign and Joliet, as well as Eastern's squad, will be among those participating in the tournament. Eastern will bring with them a 4-4-2 season record.

Andreasen said he thinks his team has a good chance of winning the tournament because every team they will be playing they have beaten either this season or at some time last year.

"Our record may not show it, but I think we have the best team that Eastern has ever had," Andreasen said.

He said the team has been playing tougher competition than last year, but they have also been playing a "higher caliber hockey."

Women cagers win close game

by Terri Lear

JOLIET—Eastern's women's basketball team pulled out a last-second victory against Lewis College 72-68 Monday night at J.F.K. Gymnasium.

With 10 seconds remaining in the game, senior forward Joann Archer was fouled as she made a shot, resulting in a three-point play that put the Panthers in the lead for the first time of the entire game.

Archer was high scorer for the Panthers with 20 points. Linda Ellsworth and Kathy Lanter were also in double-figures with 14 points apiece.

Eastern's defense allowed only four Flyers to score buckets, but were all in double-figures.

O.T. Stampley was high scorer for Lewis with 25 points, Terry Niego chalked up 17 points, Mary Niego tallied 16 and Patti Sheridan scored 10.

The Panthers will try for their seventh straight victory when they go on the road again to take on Northern Illinois University at 5 p.m. Wednesday at Dekalb.

DePaul trounces Butler 89-64

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Junior guard Skip Dillard scored 18 points Monday night, including 16 points during a 27-5 first-half burst that carried third-ranked DePaul to an 89-64 college basketball rout of Butler.

The Blue Demons were in control from the start, scoring almost at will against the out-manned Bulldogs. After a 2-2 tie in the first minute of play, a basket and free throw by Clyde Bradshaw and two baskets by Teddy Grubbs put DePaul in front for good.

After a basket by Butler's Steve Hudson cut the Blue Demon's lead to six with 14 minutes left in the first half, a pair of long-range field goals by Dillard started a string of 13 straight DePaul points.

All-American Mark Aguirre scored a three-point play on a fast-break slam dunk and free throw, Dillard added two more baskets following Butler errors and Bradshaw scored on a steal and layup.

Butler's 7-foot senior center Mike Miller ended the string with a free throw. Dillard and Aguirre countered with another basket apiece, however, and Dillard added three more baskets in the next two minutes as the Blue Demons stretched their lead to 42-14 three minutes before intermission.

Dillard had all of his 18 points in the first half.

Reserve Bernard Randolph, a 6-4 sophomore who played much of the game, finished with 14 points.

Injury-plagued netters finish fifth at tournament

by Jill Anderson

NORMAL—Hampered by injuries, Eastern's badminton team finished a lower than expected fifth place at the AIAW State tournament at Illinois State University Saturday.

Northern Illinois University took top honors followed by Western Illinois University, Illinois State, Southern Illinois University and Eastern.

"We had some fine individual performances, but we didn't play quite up to par," Panther coach Karen Earley said. "If everyone would've been healthy and we would've been at full strength, I think we would've finished higher."

Jody Lyon has been out of action with a knee injury and Jo Obrycki was out for personal reasons, Earley said.

Highlighting the singles competition for the Panthers were Denise Hadley and Sue Gonnella who both reached the quarterfinals.

Gonnella fell to No. 3 seeded Pam Peard of Northern 12-13, 3-11 and Hadley was defeated by No. 2 seeded Janet Wentworth of Northern 3-11, 11-12. Wentworth went on to capture the singles title.

Janet Haberkorn, seeded No. 8, lost in the opening round to Western, but went on to reach the finals of consolation.

Chris Kelley and Nancy Szarzynski dropped their first round matches to Western and Southern respectively. Lisa Walz was also defeated first round by Illinois State 11-5, 11-3.

Gonnella and Kelly, seeded No. 7 in doubles, reached the quarterfinals where they were defeated by No. 3 seeded Western 11-3, 11-2.

Haberkorn and Hadley, playing for the first time together, were defeated in the first round by top seeded and eventual champions Peard and Wentworth of Northern 11-5, 11-8.

"It was unfortunate that Janet and Denise had to draw such a tough team so early. Since this was the first time they played together, they were unable to get seeded," Earley said.

Walz and Szarzynski lost their opening round in straight games to Northern.

Although Eastern did not take the state title, they still qualify for the AIAW National tournament which will be held at Western Illinois University March 6-8.

Cagers steamroll past New York Tech 77-51

After a somewhat sluggish first half performance, Eastern's basketball team steamrolled in the second period en route to a 77-51 blow-out of New York Tech Monday night at Lantz Gym.

The Panthers out-scored the Bears 50-31 and shot a hot 63 percent in the second half to recover from a shaky first half showing which saw the Panthers turn the ball over nine times.

Panther head coach Rick Samuels said he felt the main reason for his squad's poor first half play was the fact his team just returned from Saturday's climatic 69-68 loss to conference rival Western Illinois.

"We were just really tired after coming back from the Western game and we just didn't get any preparation time for this game," Samuels said.

"Part of the reason I blame myself for because I didn't approach the game correctly. I thought we'd take it lightly and being this late in the season we'd get loose and come and play," he added. "We just took the game too lightly."

However, New York Tech, the NCAA Division II runner-up last season with a 23-5 record, played a hand in the Panthers first half play.

Led by lightning-quick Bear guards Pete Edwards and Joe Thompson, New York employed a full court, man-to-man press which hampered the Panthers and forced three early turnovers.

Meanwhile, the Bears managed to take a 4-0 lead and held the Panthers scoreless until Rico Ellis canned an 18-foot jumper at the 17:06 mark.

Then the Panthers shook-off their weariness and began to break the Bears' press and execute offensively.

Samuels said he felt his team just settled down at that point and consequently began putting the ball in the hoop.

"The kids really wanted to play ball tonight and we were just tired for a while. Then we started to execute some things that got us going," Samuels said.

Led by a balanced scoring attack, the Panthers eased out to a 10-5 lead with 13:26 remaining in the first half.

But led by the shooting of returning letterman Billy Jones, who finished the contest with 20 points, the Bears fought back to knot the score at 13 with 9:07 remaining.

For the next eight minutes the Panthers held on to slim one and three point leads until the 2:35 mark, when Eastern began to look deep against the press and with favorable results.

Kurt Lorenzen fed Ricky Robinson and Tim Dykstra for two quick buckets to put the Panthers on top 25-20 with

Women tracksters bow to Indiana State Saturday

by Dan Brannan

Eastern's women's track team turned in some excellent individual performances, but lost to Indiana State University 189-143 in a double-dual meet Saturday at Lantz Fieldhouse.

Although the team lost to Indiana State, Eastern did defeat its other opponent, Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, 143-72.

Eastern's first place finishers were led by Gayle Brandon in the long jump.

Brandon, who jumped 20-feet-1 and one-half inches, became the first woman in Eastern's history to jump over 20 feet.

Brandon's jump also established a new Fieldhouse record.

In addition to Brandon's fine showing was Gail Stephens in the 300-yard dash.

Stephens won the dash with a time of 35.57.

Other first place finishers for Eastern were Mary Burroughs in the 60-yard dash and Wanda Ball in the 440-yard dash.

Burroughs ran a 6.9 60-yard dash to take the event's first place ribbon and Ball recorded a time of 58.96 to capture the 440.

Eastern's Renee Johnson won the 600-yard dash with a time of 1:26.78 and Eastern's mile relay team turned in a time of 3:56.29.

Panther coach John Craft said he was pleased with Eastern's individual performances in the meet.

"It was a pretty good meet," Craft said. "I really do not have any excuses for the loss to Indiana State, but we did have some distances runners out with injuries."

Eastern's next meet is the 15-team Lady Panther Invitational Saturday at Lantz Fieldhouse.

'Best finish ever' for women tankers in weekend state meet held at SIU-C

by Cathy Crist

CARBONDALE—In what Eastern coach Ray Padovan described as the "best finish ever" at an AIAW State Swimming meet, Eastern's women's swim team placed fourth with 530 points and qualified several people for the national tournament last weekend.

Southern Illinois University—Carbondale dominated the meet and finished in first place with 901 points, which Padovan said was not a big surprise.

Northwestern University took second with 875 points, while Western Illinois University followed with 639 points and third place.

Padovan said Northern Illinois University and Eastern were extremely close throughout the weekend although the Panthers eventually took over by five points.

"This battle made the meet a little more fun and exciting because we had close competition," Padovan said.

With Northern pushing from behind, the Panthers gave out a total effort Padovan said which resulted in 17 of Eastern's 20 competitors contributing to the scoring and the breaking of several school records.

Leading the Panther national qualifiers was Dawn Reynolds, who Padovan said had a super meet.

Reynolds was the overall first place winner in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 24.67 seconds, which was also a best time for her.

Reynolds also had a best season time of 54.5 in the 100-yard freestyle and broke school records in the 50-yard breaststroke with a time of 32.3 and 100-yard individual medley with a time of 1:02.5.

Other school records were broken by Gail Pavick in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:25 and the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:17.4, Peggy Biltgen in the 1650-yard freestyle with a time of 18:52 and Ricki Rousey in the 200-yard backstroke with a time of 2:13.

Rousey came in third place overall in the 200-yard backstroke.

Padovan said all the relay team events broke school records including the 200-yard free relay team of Tammy Baker, Lori Gill, Bev Little and Reynolds with a time of 1:40.2.

In addition to national qualifiers, Pavick improved on her season's best time in the 50-yard freestyle and in the 800-yard freestyle relay team of Pavick, Biltgen, Baker, and Laurie Harris.

A total of ten swimmers have qualified for nationals which will be March 12-14, Padovan said.

Padovan said it was a good meet and a total team effort. "The state meet is usually the time when we do our best and get our best times," he added.
